Imagine, Create, Enjoy

Bits From The Board

We had a fine turnout for our last general meeting before the summer hiatus. Pat Mariano gave an interesting presentation about her artistic journey from fabric art to collage to digital creations.

Tom Britton reported that the juried show has been well received, with brisk sales of artwork. The show will run through June 10th.

Art in the Park will take place at Chapin Park the weekend of June 23rd. There will be three more AIP events in the Fall.

The Board met briefly afterward to review finances and consider matters to take up during Board meetings in the summer. All are welcome to attend these meetings--times and location will be in the newsletter or in special announcements. Natalie reported that our grant proposal is under review; announcements of final selections will occur this summer. Several members felt that we needed to have some workshop-type programs in the future.

Have a great summer.

-Carolyn Powell, President

Monthly Meeting

There will be NO meetings until September. We are on summer break – time to sweat, get sunburned, and fight the traffic. We can, however, relax, enjoy the air conditioning and create great art.

We will not have a Board meeting this month Due to Father's Day, vacations, etc.

Show / Event Info

The Myrtle Beach Art Museum

May 29th – September 2nd, 2018

The Water's Fine is a group exhibition of work by five exceptional contemporary artists working in black-and-white photography and hyperrealistic painting, all who depict imagery of people in water. Participating artists include Samantha French (Brooklyn, NY), Carl Kerridge (Myrtle Beach, SC), Wayne Levin (Honolulu, HI), Matt Story (New York, NY) and Charles Williams (Charlotte, NC). Museum guests will see a variety of captivating, large-scale depictions of people swimming, floating, diving into, contemplating getting into and turning flips in water. Photography will be juxtaposed with paintings in ways that present striking aesthetic relationships between imagery.

Continuing the "watery" theme this summer, the Art Museum will open a second exhibition next month, Making Waves: A Drew Brophy Retrospective, featuring paintings, surfboards and a variety of other art forms from the international renowned surf artist. The exhibit opens June 23.

Admission to the Art Museum is free at all times but donations are welcomed.
