Bits From The Board

Our December general meeting featured four CCU students/graduates. Their thoughtful work included paintings, costumes, beeswax coated plexiglass and a presentation about an installation that explored self-image. The room fairly crackled with ideas and observations that emerged during interaction between presenters and attendees. Thanks to Larry Bunch for setting up this program.

Thanks also to everyone who donated new and gently used art supplies for Sea Haven. The Brittons delivered the items.

Members approved the addition of Barbara Blake to the Board of Directors. We appreciate her willingness to get involved.

Our next sponsored event will be the Home Show at the MB Convention Center in February-- keep an eye out for information from Tom Britton if you are interested in participating.

The Board met briefly afterward.

-- Carolyn Powell,
President

Monthly Meeting

The December 16th, 2018 WACG meeting program was presented by four Coastal Carolina University Department of Visual Arts graduating seniors: Angelica D'Antonio, Hanna Davis, Sara Hallstein, and Joseph Quinn.

The students did a wonderful job presenting their work from the past semester leading up to their Senior Exhibits. The students, each presented related imagery, samples of their work, and discussed their respective processes central to this important project and event. The works were very interesting and the thought processes were interesting. Works included installation art, sculpture, painted art and costume fabric art.

From the top the presenters are Angela D'Antonio (installation), Hanna Davis (sculpture), Sara Hallstein (costume) and Joseph Quinn (painting).

2019 Show Dates

Our January program will be presented by Susan A. Allen. Susan Allen is from Conway, South Carolina and does many artistic crafts. For example; she does decorative gourds and makes pine straw baskets using the needles of the South Carolina long leaf pine. She is also a wood carver specializing in animals in their natural settings. She has also done boats and ships, water colors and stained glass.

Elizabeth Bradford – Time + Terrain

1/2 – 4/28

North Carolina artist Elizabeth Bradford explores intricate formal patterns found in nature. Her paintings investigate landscape and the power of place, with special affection for the Southeast. Time + Terrain invites the viewer to study the natural world, to explore it deeply. The exhibition includes 27 paintings of various scale reflecting the artist's impressions of nature's complex beauty. Accompanying the art are eloquent commentaries written by Bradford detailing her insights and observations.

The Scape of Water

1/2 – 4/28

Some of nature's greatest scenic views are those of water. In addition to the numerous artistic styles and media employed to represent water—hyper-realism, abstraction, surrealism, minimalism or classicism in paint, graphite and paper collage or sculpted in stone—there are numerous points of view from which to compose one's depiction. Water and its environs are always changing—never looking exactly the same from one second to the next. Perhaps this is why artists continually, throughout the history of art, have turned to the waterscape as subject matter. The Scape of Water is a Museum Permanent Collection exhibition of works that portray water from a diverse array of media and perspectives, including aerial or atmospheric, linear and birds-eye view. We invite you to gaze at this very serene and meditative collection of art and ponder man's endless urge to visually portray this ever-changing but constant life force that both sustains and intrigues us.

Kate Hooray Osmond – Light Shine Down
1/10 – 4/28

Charleston-SC-based artist Kate Hooray Osmond shines her artistic light in this exhibition of vibrant, large- and small-scale paintings accompanied by the artist's playful installation work. Composed of oil with gold leaf overlay, Osmond's signature style is architectural in its bold and graphic use of line and color, as well as fresh in its perspective—the artist often employs bird's-eye views. A perfect blend of abstraction and representational land and waterscapes will delight the eye and ignite the urge to get out and enjoy the many views our part of the country has to offer.

Time has brought all of us to this moment of wonder. Take a look around you. Life is sweet and will shine through. -Kate Hooray Osmond

Announcements

A couple of months ago we received a call from Sea Haven asking for help. They needed art supplies for the children staying there. We knew that they help homeless young people, but what we didn't know is that they exist solely on donations. They need everything.

At the November meeting we collected various items they could use. At the December meeting we collected new and “gently used” art supplies for them.

They were thrilled to receive these items from us and we were glad to help. Art therapy is a really great thing for the young people at the shelter. Our members are helping them so much...thanks to all who participated.

We will probably be collecting items for them 2 or 3 times per year. I like the idea that we can do something for Sea Haven as a group.
